

The European Public Law Organization (EPLO) is pleased to inform you that it is organizing, in cooperation with the University of Bahçeşehir, for the third consecutive year a Joint Turkish European Master's Program in European Public Law and European Integration Program (PSELLOS III Project, 2008-2009).

The Master's Program is held at the premises of the University of Bahçeşehir in Istanbul, Turkey and prominent Professors from Turkey and Europe deliver lectures on European Public Law and European Policies (attached please find the Academic Program of the Master's).

The Master's Program envisages two different programs:

1. Taught Master's:

- Foundation classes in European Law and European Integration - Full range of specialization classes
- Writing of a dissertation

2. Master's by research for "mature" scientists and/or professionals:

- Possibility to attend some of the taught courses according to students' research interests
- Writing of a thesis on an advanced topic either in European Law or European Integration

The applicants should hold a first degree in law, political science, sociology, history, etc. and be fluent in English, while knowledge of French is also an advantage. Applications for the new semester that begins on 30 March 2009, must be submitted by 20 March 2009.

Both the EPLO and the University of Bahçeşehir are eager to welcome new students and wish to promote the exchange of knowledge between nationals of different countries and different cultural, legal and scientific backgrounds.

For more information on the Master's Program you may visit our website: <http://sbe.bahcesehir.edu.tr/EPLC/index.php?lang=EN> or contact our local scientific secretary Ms. Ayse Ertugrul (ayse.ertugrul@bahcesehir.edu.tr).